Official Release Robin Aircraft

Our company, manufacturer of Robin and CAP aircraft, is currently facing customers-delivery delays due to temporary administrative hazards which could threaten its balance in the short term, even though its development projects have recently received support from the State and the Region as part of the French Recovery Plan (Plan de Relance).

To protect our customers, our suppliers and our staff, the company placed itself under the protection of the Law and has filed a request for the "regime de sauvegarde" (equivalent to U.S. Chapter 11).

The purpose of this prevention pattern is to give time to healthy companies facing temporary difficulties and, in most cases, allows a rapid recovery in compliance with the given commitments.

The entire Robin Aircraft team would like to thank all those who express their support day after day.

Casimir PELLISSIER
CEO of Robin Aircraft
